

CONVINCE YOUR BOSS: ATTEND ACRM ANNUAL CONFERENCE

You know you want to attend the ACRM Annual Conference, but if you're going to ask your employer to pick up the tab, you want to make a strong case for attending. So, here's some tactical advice on getting your manager to send you to the ACRM Conference.

Use these talking points to show your boss that this is the one event you can't afford to miss.

- COLLABORATE & MAKE VALUABLE CONNECTIONS ACRM is the HOME for the best rehabilitation research and those who clamor for it. Meet respected leaders in the field. There is no substitute for meeting in-person to share experiences, ideas, knowledge and know-how in the same space. ACRM brings all the puzzle pieces together to create an environment for essential interdisciplinary exchange. Meet collaborators, mentors and funders.
- SHARPEN YOUR SKILLS Whether you attend for one day, all six or any number in between, you can take away evidence-based knowledge you can put to work right away. Improve your care, improve efficiencies, and bring back the latest science to your practice.
- SHAPE THE FUTURE of REHABILITATION ACRM is THE VOICE for rehabilitation research and its translation into clinical practice. With dozens of ACRM community meetings, and 20+ community groups, there are plenty of places to pitch-in and help advance the field. ACRM provides the opportunity to roll-up your sleeves, meet and connect, affect policy and IMPROVE LIVES.
- ADVANCE YOUR CAREER Earn Continuing Education Credits in your choice of 13 disciplines – that's more disciplines & more credits than any other conference in the world.

The bottom line? Improved collaboration and visibility for your institution. Come for the knowledge and leave with smarter solutions to bring back to your team.

Sit down with your boss and make your pitch.

Don't forget: conference costs may be tax-deductible as a continuing education and professional development expense.

And be sure to remind your manager that everything you learn at ACRM will improve your team's research and help IMPROVE LIVES.